The Treasure of Lost Island

The sun rose over a perfect morning on the high seas as land came into view. We were headed for Lost Island. Only our captain, the famous pirate Blackbeard, knew the location of this island hidden in the expanse of the great ocean. As we made land, and began to walk up the beach, we heard strange sounds coming from the jungle. We proceeded forward with swords raised and fearful hearts. Suddenly…